When I have counseled people who believed that their sins are unforgivable and thought that God could no longer forgive them. I just simply tell them that God's mercy is bigger than their most grievous sins, God can always forgive them, they just need to accept his forgiveness and learn to forgive themselves. We celebrate the Sunday of the Divine Mercy for us to be reminded that we have a God who never gets tired of forgiving us, we are the ones who have gone weary in coming back to him each time we fall.

The Psalm this Sunday has repeated it three times "His mercy endures forever." And the first reading gives us two qualities of an Easter Christian: first, they live together as a merciful community by sharing everything and having everything in common. Secondly, they become a listening community and in giving witness to the Risen Christ.

In the second reading, John tells us that as followers we must walk in the light of God and that everyone who believes becomes a child of God. And the way in which we can show our love for God is by keeping his commandments.

In the gospel today the theme is "faith" as manifested in the response of Thomas: "My Lord and my God!" Our faith makes us children of God, who no longer belongs to this world, and learning to love one another and by keeping God's commandment. This faith made us live together in community and thought us to be a dispenser of God's mercy to others!

May we not get tired in showing mercy to our neighbors as we received the unfathomable mercy of God.

Cuando aconsejé a personas que creían que sus pecados son imperdonables y pensaban que Dios ya no podría perdonarlos. Simplemente les digo que la misericordia de Dios es más grande que sus pecados más graves, Dios siempre puede perdonarlos, solo necesitan aceptar su perdón y aprender a perdonarse a sí mismos. Celebramos el Domingo de la Divina Misericordia para recordar que tenemos un Dios que nunca se cansa de perdonarnos, somos nosotros los que nos hemos cansado de volver a Él cada vez que caemos.

El Salmo de este domingo lo ha repetido tres veces "Para siempre es su misericordia". Y la primera lectura nos da dos cualidades de un cristiano pascual: primero, viven juntos como una comunidad misericordiosa compartiendo todo y teniendo todo en común. En segundo lugar, se convierten en comunidad de escucha y de testimonio de Cristo Resucitado.

En la segunda lectura, Juan nos dice que como seguidores debemos caminar en la luz de Dios y que todo aquel que cree se convierte en hijo de Dios. Y la manera en que podemos mostrar nuestro amor a Dios es guardando sus mandamientos.

En el evangelio de hoy el tema es la "fe", como se manifiesta en la respuesta de Tomás: "¡Señor mío y Dios mío!" Nuestra fe nos hace hijos de Dios, que ya no pertenecemos a este mundo, y aprendemos a amarnos unos a otros y a guardar los mandamientos de Dios. ¡Esta fe nos hizo vivir juntos en comunidad y nos pensó en ser dispensadores de la misericordia de Dios para los demás!

Que no nos cansemos de mostrar misericordia a nuestro prójimo, así como recibimos la insondable misericordia de Dios.
