A couple weeks ago I bought some sunflower seeds, and planted them around the statue of St. Padre Pio, I read the instruction and it says it will sprout in 7 to 12 days but while passing by after three days some seeds had already sprouted but when I returned after our three days assembly, I saw them trampled, uprooted and cut to pieces by children who played at the water front of St. Padre Pio's Garden. How disappointed I was that my sunflower seeds growth has been obstructed and trampled by children. When I started reflecting for this Sunday's liturgy, I realized that when we sow the seeds they grow quietly and secretly. Preaching the word of God every Sunday is just like sowing the seed. We do not know how it affects the lives of people and we do not know how it touches them to the core of their beings. We know for certain; it is God that achieve every good in every person. But sometimes we get disappointed when obstructions block out growth we are expecting.

We understand that the growth is imperceptible. We can't stay and watch how it grows, we have to leave, we have to go away and come back after a longer time and see how the seed has grown without us noticing it. We understand that growth is constant and we can't stop it, or help it. Night and day growth continues, even when we sleep. This is how God's work quietly and unceasingly.

We understand that growth is inevitable. That growth is so powerful that we can't contain or hold it, like the root of the tree at my backyard that destroyed the pipe that connects our sewer. Growth is power and nothing can stop it. God's grace grows in us despite our sinfulness, we can't continue to resist the growth of his grace in our lives, we have to allow it to grow. Human acts and cooperation can only act with it. We progress with it. It is God acting, progressing, working and achieving every good growth in each one of us. It is He who accomplished everything in us. We can work together with God, but decisively and primarily by God.

Hace un par de semanas compré algunas semillas de girasol y las planté alrededor de la estatua de San Padre Pío, leí las instrucciones y dice que brotarán en 7 a 12 días, pero al pasar después de tres días algunas semillas ya habían brotado, pero Cuando regresé después de nuestra asamblea de tres días, los vi pisoteados, desarraigados y cortados en pedazos por niños que jugaban en la pila de agua del Jardín de San Padre Pío. Qué decepcionado estaba porque los niños habían obstaculado y pisoteado el crecimiento de mis semillas de girasol. Cuando comencé a reflexionar para la liturgia de este domingo, me di cuenta de que cuando sembramos las semillas, estas crecen silenciosa y secretamente.

Predicar la palabra de Dios cada domingo es como sembrar la semilla.

lla. No sabemos cómo afecta la vida de las personas y no sabemos cómo les toca lo más profundo de su ser. Lo sabemos con certeza; es Dios quien logra todo bien en cada persona. Pero a veces nos decepcionamos cuando los obstáculos bloquean el crecimiento que esperamos.

Entendemos que el crecimiento es imperceptible. No podemos quedarnos viendo cómo crece, tenemos que irnos, y volver después de un tiempo más largo y ver cómo la semilla ha crecido sin que nos demos cuenta. Entendemos que el crecimiento es constante y no podemos detenerlo ni ayudarlo. El crecimiento nocturno y diurno continúa, incluso cuando dormimos. Así es como Dios obra silenciosa e incesantemente.

Entendemos que el crecimiento es inevitable. Ese crecimiento es tan poderoso que no podemos contenerlo ni retenerlo, como la raíz del árbol en mi patio trasero que destruyó la tubería que conecta nuestra alcantarilla. El crecimiento es poder y nada puede detenerlo. La gracia de Dios crece en nosotros a pesar de nuestra pecaminosidad, no podemos seguir resistiendo el crecimiento de su gracia en nuestras vidas, tenemos que permitir que crezca. Los actos humanos y la cooperación sólo pueden actuar con él. Avanzamos con ello. Es Dios actuando, progresando, obrando y logrando todo buen crecimiento en cada uno de nosotros. Es Él quien realizó todo en nosotros. Podemos trabajar junto con Dios, pero decisiva y principalmente Dios en nosotros.
